

The decisions of Sinclair Broadcasting to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a dangerous act.

Isn't Sinclair obligated by law to serve the public interest? Right now they seem to be trying to influence public opinion and ensure their own bottom line instead of serving our democracy.

Sinclair's actions demonstrate why media ownership rules must be strengthened, not weakened. The license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.